

Emma Corrigan, National Lottery Community Fund

Emma joined the National Lottery Community Fund in July 2022. As one of our England Directors, Emma is responsible for the Leadership of Programmes, Operations and English Regions.

With over 20 years' experience in grant making, Emma was most recently the Head of Design and Delivery at BBC Children in Need, ensuring the successful delivery of the fund across the UK and leading multiple major change programmes for the charity. Prior to that, she worked for a diverse range of funders, including Community Foundations and Housing Associations, gaining significant experience in charity governance and compliance during this time.

Emma has been a strong advocate for wellbeing and empowerment of staff at all levels of the organisations she has worked at and believes passionately in the need for open and transparent communication.

Since October 2022 Emma has been a member of the board of Trustees at London Funders.

Sara Cooney, Lloyds Bank Foundation of England and Wales

Sara joined London Funders as a trustee in November 2019 and is a manager with the Lloyds Bank Foundation for England and Wales, working with charity partners in 17 London Boroughs. Sara has over 20 years' experience in grant making and community development organisations and before joining the Lloyds Bank Foundation in 2008, worked within the Heritage Lottery Fund, Leaside Regeneration, a social and economic regeneration company working in Tower Hamlets and Amnesty International.

Sara's work at the Lloyds Bank Foundation enables her to support charities which are working locally in our communities who help and empower vulnerable and marginalised people experiencing complex social issues to move forward positively and to build stronger, more compassionate and just communities.

Susan Barry, The Haberdashers' Company

Susan has been Director for Charities at the Haberdashers' Company since 2020.

Susan joined London Funders as a trustee in November 2022. She places great emphasis on the role of collaboration and partnership in creating social impact and transformation. Previously Susan worked in a variety of fundraising roles, directly understanding the issues facing charities as they seek to access funds in an extremely challenging funding and programme delivery context.

She is passionate about making the process and charity/donor relationships as accessible, transparent and relational as possible. She is a strong advocate for creating greater impact through the time and expertise of the people in her organisation to complement and transform the grant-making capacity of the Haberdashers' Company.

In recent years she has tested participatory grant making with young people in Haberdasher school communities and created a Resilience Fund to further support existing charity partners. As a Trustee for London Funders, she represents both small and sub regional funders and advocates for them within the governance context.

Simon Latham, City Bridge Foundation

Simon is the Acting Managing Director of City Bridge Foundation (CBF), a charity that is responsible for five of London's bridges (Tower, London, Southwark, Blackfriars and Millennium) and a London-based charitable funder, of which the City of London Corporation is Trustee. Prior to that, Simon was Chief Operating Officer of CBF, Director of the City of London Police Authority, and Director of the Chief Executive's Office at the City of London Corporation. Simon has been Trustee of Cambridge House, a Southwark-based charity, since 2017 and was previously a school governor and academy trustee for over ten years.

Simon has been on the Board of London Funders for the last year as a co-opted Trustee, and is now standing for election for members to have the opportunity to formalise this appointment.
